

National Safety Council

Position/Policy Statement

Health and Safety Management Systems

The National Safety Council will participate with ANSI Z-10 Accredited Committee on Occupational Health and Safety Management Systems. The National Safety Council will use existing mechanisms to provide updates to its membership and to gather input from its membership. The National Safety Council representative will use existing Council documents as well as input from the Council Membership to guide participation on the committee.

This position statement reflects the opinions of the National Safety Council but not necessarily those of each member organization.
